

FDA Admits Covid mRNA 'Vaccines' Cause Cancer

By Frank Bergman | slaynews.com • February 13, 2025 - 12:56 pm

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has just made the explosive admission that Covid mRNA "vaccines" are spiked with contaminations that triggered a global surge in cancers.

The federal agency made the admission after an FDA study confirmed that Pfizer's Covid mRNA "vaccine" contains dangerous levels of excess DNA contamination.

As Slay² News previously reported, leading scientists have been warning for some time that surges in deadly cancers among the Covid-vaccinated were caused by DNA fragments in the mRNA injections.

Those warnings have now been confirmed in a bombshell study conducted in the FDA's own laboratory.

Tests conducted at the FDA's White Oak Campus in Maryland found shocking levels of DNA contamination in the "vaccines."

The residual DNA levels exceeded regulatory safety limits by 6 to 470 times.

While six times the safe limit would be alarming, 470 times is unprecedented and devastating.

The vaccine vials used during the study were sourced from BEI Resources.

BEI is a trusted supplier affiliated with the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID), previously headed by Dr. Anthony Fauci.

The findings of the peer-reviewed study were published in the Journal of High School Science.

The study finally shuts down years of dismissals by regulatory authorities, who had previously labeled concerns about excessive DNA contamination as baseless.

The FDA is expected to comment on the findings this month.

However, the agency has yet to issue a public alert, recall the affected batches, or explain how vials exceeding safety standards were allowed to reach the market.

The FDA researchers employed two primary analytical methods:

- NanoDrop Analysis – This technique uses UV spectrometry to measure the combined levels of DNA and RNA in the vaccine. While it provides an initial assessment, it tends to overestimate DNA concentrations due to interference from RNA, even when RNA-removal kits are utilized.
- Qubit Analysis – For more precise measurements, the researchers relied on the Qubit system, which quantifies double-stranded DNA using fluorometric dye.

Both methods confirmed the presence of DNA contamination far above permissible thresholds.

These findings align with earlier reports from independent laboratories in the United States, Canada, Australia, Germany, and France.

Kevin McKernan, a former director of the Human Genome Project, described the findings as a “bombshell.”

JOIN THE FIGHT - DONATE TO SLAY NEWS TODAY!

In a statement, he blasted the FDA for its lack of transparency.

“These findings are significant not just for what they reveal but for what they suggest has been concealed from public scrutiny,” McKernan said.

“Why has the FDA kept these data under wraps?”

In addition to genome integration, McKernan highlighted another potential cancer-causing mechanism of DNA contamination in the vaccines.

He explained that plasmid DNA fragments entering the cell's cytoplasm with the help of lipid nanoparticles could overstimulate the cGAS-STING pathway.

The cGAS-STING pathway is a crucial component of the innate immune response.

"Chronic activation of the cGAS-STING pathway could paradoxically fuel cancer growth," McKernan warned.

"Repeated exposure to foreign DNA through COVID-19 boosters may amplify this risk over time, creating conditions conducive to cancer development."

Adding to the controversy, traces of the SV40 promoter were detected among the DNA fragments.

While the authors concluded that these fragments were "non-replication-competent" meaning they cannot replicate in humans, McKernan disagreed.

"To assert that the DNA fragments are non-functional, they would need to transfect mammalian cells and perform sequencing, which wasn't done here," McKernan stated.

"Moreover, the methods used in this study don't effectively capture the full length of DNA fragments," he added.

"A more rigorous sequencing analysis could reveal SV40 fragments several thousand base pairs long, which would likely be functional."

McKernan has been one of the leading voices sounding the alarm over the cancer-causing DNA in the Covid "vaccines."

As Slay News previously reported, McKernan issued a warning to the public last month after discovering traces of Covid mRNA “vaccines” in the rapidly developing cancerous tumors of turbo cancer patients.

Dr. McKernan, a genomics scientist with 25 years of experience in his field, made the discovery during experiments in his Boston lab.

McKernan gene-sequenced a cancerous tumor, matching the genetic sequence to Pfizer’s Covid mRNA injection.

The discovery is being hailed as definitive proof that Covid mRNA “vaccines” cause cancer.

“We’re in the stage where we’re scanning through tumors to look for integration events and looking for evidence of this in cancer biopsies,” McKernan said.

“And we can find them now.”

“They found one that had really high spike [protein] sent to us for sequencing.

“And we can find components of Pfizer’s vaccines inside this thing a year after vaccination.”

Immunology Professor Nikolai Petrovsky, the director of Vaxine Pty Ltd, described the findings from the new FDA study as a “smoking gun.”

“It clearly shows the FDA was aware of these data,” Petrovsky notes.

"Given that these studies were conducted in their own labs under the supervision of their own scientists, it would be hard to argue they were unaware."

Prof Petrovsky praised the quality of work carried out by the students at the FDA labs.

"The irony is striking," he remarked.

"These students performed essential work that the regulators failed to do.

"It's not overly complicated—we shouldn't have had to rely on students to conduct tests that were the regulators' responsibility in the first place."

The SV40 promoter is a DNA sequence derived from the Simian Virus 40 that enhances gene expression in eukaryotic cells by driving the transcription of genes placed under its control.

A growing number of leading experts have warned that SV40 is causing cancers to surge among the Covid-vaccinated.

SV40 has been linked to cancer in humans, including mesotheliomas, lymphomas, and cancers of the brain and bone.

The study comes amid increasing warnings that Covid mRNA injections cause cancer.

A world-renowned professor of oncology has issued a chilling warning about Covid mRNA "vaccines" after concluding that the "evil" injections have triggered a global "explosion" in cases of deadly "turbo cancers."

The warning was issued by Angus Dalgleish, a professor of oncology at St George's, University of London, as Slay News reported.

Prof. Dalgleish, who is best known for his groundbreaking contributions to HIV/AIDS research, raised the alarm during an international forum of experts investigating the mass Covid vaccination campaign.

He warned that he has seen an "explosion" of deadly "turbo cancers" in his patients who have received Covid mRNA injections.

While addressing the Medical Doctors for Covid Ethics International forum, founded by Dr. Stephen Frost and moderated by Charles Kovess, Dalgleish told the panel of experts:

"We must stop messenger RNA [mRNA] at all costs... it's not only mad, it's evil."

As Slay News previously reported, documents have also emerged showing that Moderna has always known that the pharmaceutical giant's Covid mRNA shots cause cancer.

Last year, a world-renowned vaccine expert presented evidence during congressional testimony showing that Moderna knew of the cancer links.

Dr. Robert Malone, the inventor of mRNA vaccine technology, testified during a hearing on Capitol Hill led by Republican Rep. Marjorie Taylor Greene (R-GA).

During his testimony, Malone presented the patent for Moderna's Covid vaccine.

Moderna's patent shows that its COVID-19 vaccine vials contain billions of DNA fragments.

Those fragments, along with other contaminants, are linked to birth defects and cancer, Malone explained.

In the ²patent, Moderna admits that contaminants in the shots cause cancer.

"Moderna has a patent on the use of RNA for vaccines," Malone told the hearing.

"And in that, Moderna explicitly acknowledges that RNA is superior to DNA for vaccine purposes because of problems, including the possibility of insertional mutagenesis that could lead to the activation of oncogenes or the inactivation of tumor suppressor genes.

"FDA says they're not aware of any concerns, but Moderna in its own patent lays out exactly the same concerns that exist about DNA in insertional mutagenesis and genotoxicity.

"So, Moderna knows it – DNA is a contaminant.

"It is left in because of the way they make it ... they use DNA to make RNA, and then they degrade the DNA, and then they have to purify the degraded DNA away from the RNA.

"And the process they are using is apparently not that good."
