

Save Human Beings From the Abuse of Neurotechnologies

Open Letter to Preachers, Ministers, Imams and Monks of World Religions

Dear preachers of the world's religions,

It is believed that a human being was created by God, which endowed human being its nature. Thousands years after the births of world's religions the God's human nature is under the threat of development of technology (see this). The scientists work on neurotechnologies, which enable them to control the activity of the human brain and in this way make it possible to alienate the human being from its natural behavior (see this).

In November 2000, the Russian State Duma Committee for Security recommended to the Russian State Duma to enact the law prohibiting the use of electromagnetic weapons on Russian territory. It argued:

"The achievements of contemporary science and technology made possible the development of informational and psychophysiological technologies which allow for the creation of means and methods of secret, remote influence on the psyche and physiology of a person or of a group of people. There exists a wide spectrum of means enabling guaranteed change of the way of thinking of a human being, programming of his behavior, interfering with the adequacy of his reactions or artificially bringing about symptoms of dependency... Phone lines, heating and sewer pipes, TVs, fire signalization can be used as transmitting antennas."

It concluded:

"Practically all around the world the work on methods of hidden influence upon human psyche is considered to be a priority and rates among the most important technologies of the 21st century." (See this)

In 2007, the Washington Post published the article "Mind Games." This article revealed an experiment conducted by the U.S. Air Force, which was reportedly declassified in response to a Freedom of Information Act request. It detailed the transmission of barely intelligible sentences into the brains of volunteers using pulsed microwave technology. It is important to note that when the speech is transferred to ultrasound the brain still perceives it, but the human being does not realize it since it does not hear it. In this way he or she will consider this to be his or her own thoughts and those thoughts may control his or her behavior. This is what the Russian State Duma Committee for Security was writing about.

The United Nations (item 27) and the European Union (item 29) warned against the possible abuse of neurotechnologies and artificial intelligence to control human behavior, but did not acknowledge that the nervous system of human beings can be manipulated not only by brain-computer interfaces, but as well from long distances and even from space by extra long electromagnetic waves.

Joe Biden said in his farewell speech:

“Today, an oligarchy is taking shape in America of extreme wealth, power, and influence that literally threatens our entire democracy, our basic rights and freedoms.”
(Seethis)

The governments, most probably in collusion with big corporations, are hiding those weapons from people by forbidding the journalists to publish their existence. In the USA in 1995 the Non-Lethal Weapons Steering Committee was created with a task “to issue security and classification instructions on programs of non lethal weapons” (p. 128). On June 6, 1992, the Russian daily Komsomolskaya Pravda wrote that the subject of remote control of the functioning of human brain was on the “List of Information Banned from Publication” in the year 1990 (see this). Are the governments and corporations getting ready to use those neurotechnologies against their own or foreign peoples in order to strengthen their power?

The USA, Russia and China have constructed the radar systems (the HAARP, read chapters 22 to 28, the Sura (see this) and the Chinese system) which enable them through manipulation of ionosphere to control their own or foreign nations nervous systems by extra long electromagnetic waves in large areas of the planet. In June 2023, the American daily Washington Times wrote:

“China’s People’s Liberation Army is developing high-technology weapons designed to disrupt brain functions and influence government leaders or entire populations.”

In this way the governments are taking over people from God and people have no way to defend themselves against this takeover, since governments have forbidden the media to publish the existence of those technologies, that they are having at hand.

Consequently people cannot realize the need to oppose the use of those technologies against them and ask for their declassification and enactment of legislations protecting them against abuse of those weapons by governments or corporations (see this).

To be able to protect themselves and their nature and minds, they need to be informed about the danger, they are facing. You may be able to participate in saving the human nature, created by God, from being destroyed by modern neurotechnologies, if you inform people about this danger in sermons in your churches. This might consequently oblige the governments to develop legislations protecting people against the abuse of those technologies and saving their God’s nature.

We believe that the best protection against abuse of those neurotechnologies would be if the United Nations Organization was authorized to supervise the observation of the international ban of the use of those technologies.
